Hey Michael,

Congrats on progressing through to the first round of interviews with Domino's.

Date: Monday 29th July

Time: 1.00pm

Where: Teams Meeting – Link sent separately.

Who you'll be meeting:

David Federer – Group Head of Data Science <https://www.linkedin.com/in/david-federer-b565655/>

I've re-attached across the JD for the role.

Remember – have a good idea of what they do in the market and then tailor your answers on your experience to that.

The main attributes Domino's will be looking at in this chat are:

- Experience with data science and advanced analytics
- Statistical techniques – properties of distribution, experimental design etc.
- FMCG/Retail Knowledge
- Understanding of Price Elasticity and Pricing Structures
- Data Modelling/Analysis/Methodological experience
- Strong communication skills with examples of effective stakeholder engagement

Aside from that, interviews are always a two ways street and so a great opportunity for you to vet them on:

- What sort of projects they have in the pipeline?
- What does success in the role look like in 6/12/18 months?

I'll catch up with you Monday morning to check in but if you have any questions just give me a call.

Thanks!
